Remote Deposit

The affordable Remote Deposit System.

Remote Deposit is the capture of check images and MICR information for the purpose of electronic transmission to a financial institution for deposit. Remote Deposit, or as it is sometime referred to Merchant Capture, eliminates the need for daily trips to the bank just to deposit checks received at your business. It not only reduces the trips to the bank but will increase funds availability, provide a check image archive and research capabilities.

MirrorImage Remote Deposit utilizes a small desktop check scanner to transform your current paper based check deposit process into an image-based electronic deposit. Deposit items can be presented to your financial institution as an X9.37 file (the Federal Reserve Bank standard), as an ACH file, or a combination of ACH & X9.37. MI Remote Deposit is available in both a client version or a web version and provides everything you need to transmit digital check images to your bank. Remote Deposit can be configured to consolidate deposits from multiple locations into a single corporate deposit.
